

TEAM SUMMIT

COLORADO

Snowboard Futures Camp

Mount Hood Oregon
Ages 13 and up
July 6th - July 24th, 2020

Big Changes are happening at Mt. Hood this summer. The Traditional private park set up is gone. All parks are going to be operated by Timberline. This is a great thing for us as it means access to the same set ups, with more airbags, more days/week, at a better price. On the Glacier (up top) this season there will be a boarderx course, 22' pipe serviced with a rope tow, 2x 18'pipes, medium jump and rail zone serviced with a rope tow, pro park serviced with a rope tow, and a small hike park zone. There will be pipe air bags and landing bags in the medium zone and 22' pipe zone. Down low in the public park area there will be 3 medium jumps and a bundle of rails and boxes. There is plenty for us to work with this season.

[\[Register Online with CampInTouch\]](#)

When: July 6-24th

July 6th- drive to campground in Idaho

July 7th- drive to welches

July 8-11th on snow

July 12th Rest day

July 13-15th on snow

July 16th Beach Day!

July 17-18th on snow

July 19th rest day

July 20-22 on snow

July 23 drive to Jordanella state park for camping

July 24th Arrive at Copper around 4pm

Why Hood: Because Oregon is RAD! We get full laps just like we do in the winter. A typical top to bottom run at mt. hood goes banked slalom course, to BoarderX course, to medium/large jump, to 22' pipe, to 18' pipe, to 3 jump medium line, to endless small medium and large jib features, then do it all over again.

What: It's snowboard camp so you will need some good summer and spring shred gear. A detailed list will be provided before we leave. Also we will camp one night on the way out and one night on the way home. Here is a detailed daily schedule.

7:30am wake up and Breakfast

8:45am Load Van

9:00am head to timberline

12:00pm Lunch

3:00pm head off the mountain

4:00pm Snack and Skate

6:00pm Dinner

6:30pm Video

9:00pm Lights out

[\[Register Online with CampInTouch\]](#)

How Much: $3145

Includes everything but a few meals on the way there and back. Kids will need spending money for approximately 2.5 days of meals when traveling.

*TSC walking the boards out for surf day.

Questions?

Email: mattyv@teamsummit.org

Phone: 970.968.3080

[\[Register Online with CampInTouch\]](#)